Come to an Etai Mini-Conference in Gan Raveh

Effective Teaching for Effective Learning

When: Monday, February 27th, 2017
Time: 15:45 – 19:30
Where : Gan Raveh School, Ayanot, Bet Oved Junction

15:45 – 16:15 Registration and Browsing: Here's an opportunity to visit the materials exhibition featuring a wide variety of publishers and retailers.

16:15 – 17:15 Opening and Plenary:

Opening Words and Greetings

Plenary Lecture: Art at the Heart of ELT Amanda Caplan

Agam, Brueghel, Cezanne: Art Belongs in your Classroom whatever the level. Do you teach colours, adjectives, grammar, descriptive writing or holidays? Of course you do! Bring famous paintings to class. You don't need to understand art, you just need Google Images and you too can do it!

17:20– 18:10 Parallel Sessions in Hativa Building:

Listen Up! Laura Shashua

Looking for ways to teach listening skills in a class full of talkative kids? Tired of those listening comprehension passages in the textbook? Here are some new ways to practice listening skills and have fun too.

Digitools in the Classroom Yonat Gross

We can create a new educational environment by incorporating digital tools on our lessons. What does that mean? How is it done? Which tools to use and when? We will discuss all that and more. I promise not to KAHOOT you!

Project Based Learning in a Large Classroom - Yes, Yes you can! Aviva Taragin

Projects engage and challenge our pupils. Here are ways to get pupils working on projects together in English in any sized class.

Teaching Reading to Dyslexic Learners of All Ages Daniella Aviv

Reading is an essential tool in acquiring a new language; those who struggle to read will have difficulties in the process of acquisition. Here's a simple method to teach reading to beginners who have never learned to read and to struggling readers.

18.10 –18:40 Presentation of Educational Materials

Here's a chance to become familiar with various English teaching materials available.

18:40 – 19:30 Closing Plenary:

@ the MALL - Successfully Integrating Mobile Devices in ELT Jane Cohen

Our role as English teachers is to assist each of our students to learn English to the best of their ability. Mobile Assisted Language Learning (MALL) enables teachers to utilize students' hand-held devices, to engage and empower all learners, to achieve English language success. It is easier than you think!

ETAI would like to thank the publishers and exhibitors for their generous support.
Thank you to Gan Rave Regional Council for their hospitality.
